The figure consists of 12 small, vertically oriented photographs arranged in a grid-like fashion. The images show various stages of a biological experiment, likely related to the growth or development of a plant or microorganism. The photographs are arranged in a grid-like fashion, with some showing close-ups of structures and others showing broader views of the growth process. The images are labeled with letters A through L, and some have additional labels like '1', '2', '3', '4', '5', '6', '7', '8', '9', '10', '11', '12'.
