About ASMIHA

The 35th Annual Scientific Meeting of Indonesian Heart Association is the national's largest and most prestigious annual meeting for approximately 2500 healthcare professionals (mostly cardiologists, internists, neurologists, obstetricians, pediatricians, cardio-thoracic surgeons, general practitioners, and other professionals) and scientists from all parts of Indonesia and surroundings, which are all dedicated to the science of cardiovascular diseases and associated disorders.

Programming will provide continuing medical education through communication of appropriate and significant advances in the prevention, rehabilitation, diagnosis, and treatment of cardiovascular diseases from many angles and perspectives. Therefore, the attendees will have a more comprehensive overview of recent advances in cardiovascular medicine.

Symposium, workshops, mini-courses, cardiovascular research forums, free papers, and Young Investigator Award sessions are interestingly available during the event. The scientific sessions offer a unique opportunity to gather with colleagues across the country with wide-ranging interests and expertise in cardiovascular medicine and research. We have had some decades of advances; therefore, the scope and quality of scientific exchange at the scientific sessions have resulted in it becoming one of the most informative and the largest medical meeting of its kind in the country and surroundings. There will also be a large, interesting technical and business exhibition for our partners from the pharmaceutical and medical supplies companies. This exhibition will display the latest medication and equipment advances in cardiology and cardiovascular surgery within the last few years.

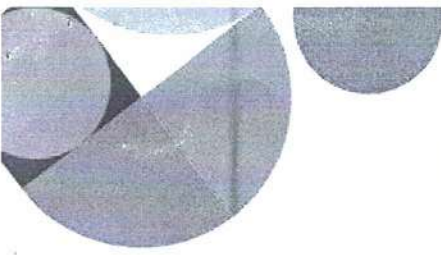

The 35th Annual Scientific Meeting of Indonesian Heart Association will be held in Jakarta on July 15– 18th, 2026. So, we proudly invite you to join these prestigious events for a warm and enriching experience. The Scientific Committee has carefully selected an interesting topic to provide a broad base of information at the forefront of research and best recent clinical practice.
