MAKASSAR
CARDIOVASCULAR
UPDATE - XXIV 2026

THE FUTURE OF CARDIOVASCULAR MEDICINE

Bridging Artificial Intelligence, Diagnostics, and Therapeutic Excellence

EVENT PROPOSAL

THE FUTURE OF CARDIOVASCULAR MEDICINE

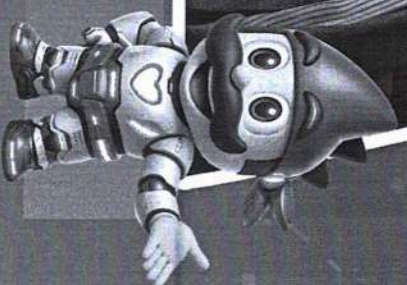

Bridging Artificial Intelligence, Diagnostics, and Therapeutic Excellence

BACKGROUND

Andi Alief Utama Armyn, MD, FIHA
Chairman of MCVU XXIV

Cardiovascular disease remains the leading cause of mortality worldwide, continually challenging healthcare systems, including in Indonesia. As the disease burden grows alongside an aging population and changing lifestyles, the medical community must look beyond conventional approaches. The integration of advanced technologies is an urgent necessity to improve patient survival and optimize clinical outcomes.

In response to this evolving landscape, The South Sulawesi Branch of the Association of Indonesian Cardiologists is organizing this year's scientific meeting with the theme: "The Future of Cardiovascular Medicine: Bridging Artificial Intelligence, Diagnostics, and Therapeutic Excellence." This theme reflects the pivotal shift towards precision cardiology and technology-driven care.

The rapid evolution of Artificial Intelligence (AI) and machine learning offers unprecedented capabilities in analyzing complex medical data. When bridged with cutting-edge diagnostics—from advanced imaging to smart wearable sensors—AI empowers clinicians with earlier detection, accurate risk stratification, and real-time monitoring.

This synergy forms the foundation for therapeutic excellence, enabling personalized treatment strategies that are more proactive, effective, and tailored to individual patient needs.

The event will include symposium and workshops aimed at demystifying the role of AI and modern technologies in cardiovascular disease management. The goal is to invite healthcare professionals, researchers, and technology innovators to explore these groundbreaking advancements. Ultimately, the event aims to update clinical knowledge and foster robust collaborations, allowing practitioners to navigate the challenges of modern medicine and translate these innovations into positive, life-saving changes in everyday cardiovascular healthcare.
